

PRETTY IN PINK

PROGRESS

Propress, the UK's leading fabric steamer is launching a new limited edition pink fabric steamer in aid of Breast Cancer Haven ahead of breast cancer awareness month, this October. Propress will donate ten per cent from the sale of each pink steamer to the charity.

By launching this limited edition pink steamer, Propress hope to further aid the outstanding contribution Breast Cancer Haven make to raising awareness of the condition and supporting those affected by breast cancer.

Propress has been secretly steaming the wardrobes and home furnishings of fashionistas and house-proud women ever since it was first developed for professional use in the early 1980s. For many it is as much a home essential as a vacuum cleaner, turning tired, creased clothes into fresh as new looking fabrics and saving on dry cleaning bills.

Breast Cancer Haven offers a free programme of care to help patients and those supporting them during this difficult time. Havens are welcoming day centres staffed by a specialist team who provide support, information and complementary therapies before, during and after medical treatment.

Propress steamers can be used on any fabric, including silk, linen, cashmere, leather, PVC and even delicate beaded and sequined materials. Propress steamers use tap water and are lightweight and easy to use. The Propress steamers retail from £329 VAT.
